To: Hahn Systems Dealers & End-Users
Subject: Senco Fasteners unit of measure and part number changes

Dear valued customer,

We wanted to send you a quick letter explaining that Senco is transitioning their 34 degree paper-taped framing nails to a ¾ length strip nail configuration. Because of this change, end-users will not have to reload their tools as often helping to increase job productivity. Packaging on the new ¾ length strip nails will be 2.5m/box. You will start to see this change within the next few weeks. To help you know which items are affected we are enclosing a cross reference chart showing you the old product number and the new product number. All pricing will be the same “M” price, however your box pricing may change since all new packaging will be 2.5m. Please update your records accordingly. Contact your local sales representative or customer service if you have any questions about this change.

Sincerely,
Krystal Mayo
Marketing Specialist
